

Humanitarian Aid Project Portugal Proposal

Colégio Guadalupe
Portugal

Overview

The project aims promoting cooperation between Europe and Africa (Angola) by providing materials to support vocational training activities in a remote area of the country.

Education question

School dropout in Angola is more critical in some of its remote areas.

Njambasana, in the Namib desert, has a school population highly engaged in pastoral traditional activities, which contributes to school dropout and absenteeism. The nomadic character of pastoralism in the region and the lack of vocational training opportunities is therefore one of the main educational concern.

Target

- support vocational training activities for children and young adults at risk (12–25 years old)
- provide materials for vocational training courses of the Escola de Artes e Ofícios of Njambasana (of the CEDO, Centro de Estudos do Deserto):
 - Sewing
 - Pottery
 - Food preservation
 - Construction

Steps

- Identify the needs of school/training centre involving the European schools and the Angolan school
- Collect materials in Europe through a varied set of activities involving the students and the school community
- Organise transportation and delivery involving European and Angolan cooperation agents
- Follow up on the inception and first results of the courses

All these steps and activities foresee continuous need analysis, partners involvement, allowing each of them flexibility and promoting students creativity
